CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many a Norway Householder

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Norway readers.

Mrs. Myrtle Payne, 237 Main St., Norway, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and am thoroughly satisfied they are a dependable remedy. I had more or less pain across my back and kidneys. It annoyed me very much and when stooping and lifting, I felt it more. I found Doan's Kidney Pills good for the trouble and after I used this remedy the pains lessened. I have been practically free from the trouble since and I feel the remedy deserves my recommendation." (Statement given June 7, 1916.)

On September 3, 1920, Mrs. Payne said: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly today as I have during several years past. The great good they did me has lasted and my faith in the remedy has remained firm."

WHY BOYS LEAVE HOME

Why did you leave the farm, my lad?
Why did you bolt and leave your dad?
Why did you beat it off to town?
And turn your poor old father down?
Thinkers of platform, pulpit and press
Are wallowing in deep distress
They seek to know the hidden cause
Why farmer boys desert their pa's.
"Well, stranger, since you've been so frank,
I'll roll aside the hazy plank,
I left my dad, his farm, his plow
Because my calf became his cow.
I left my dad, 'twas wrong, of course,
Because my calf became his horse.
I left my dad to sow and reap,
Because my lamb became his sheep,
I dropped my hoe and strayed the fork,
Because my pig became his pork.
The garden truck that I made grow
Was his to sell, and mine to hoe.
It's not the smoke in the atmosphere,
Nor the taste for life that brought me here.
Please tell the platform, pulpit, press
No fear of toil nor love of dress
Is driving off the Farmer Lads,
It's just the method of their Pads."

NOTES FROM JOSEPH ANDREWS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov., 1920.

Dear Advertiser:

Your gentle reminder that my subscription to the Advertiser is about to expire was received, and I hasten to respond by sending you a P. O. order for the amount, as I wish to remain a paid in advance subscriber to the good old Advertiser. I notice that you have not raised the subscription price of the Advertiser, while my two local South Dakota papers have raised their price from $1.50 to $2.00 a year. We are having our first taste of winter weather, 28 above with snow and rain for the last few days.

As a Republican I rejoice greatly over the outcome of the recent presidential election, and hope that our grand old country will get back to pre-war conditions without any great financial panic. I notice that my old stamping ground, Lovell and Fryburg, and in good old Oxford County, that the people stand politically about where they stood in 1860 when they elected Lincoln to guide our Ship of State through the troubled waters of four years of Civil war. Allegheny County, of which Pittsburgh is a part, did her share nobly in the late election by rolling up a majority for Harding of over 108,000 votes.

Pittsburgh is an interesting city to live in, and there are many historical points to visit. The Monongahela and Allegheny rivers unite in the lower part of the city at what is called the Point, and form the grand old Ohio river. Between two rivers a high broken ridge of headland run down almost to the Point where it spreads out into a level plain. The valley of the first named river is not more than a half mile wide, and is inclosed on either side by steep and broken bluffs which rise about four hundred feet above the river that flows between. Along the bluffs on the south side are seven or eight incline railroads, each run by a power house at the top, which manipulates a large wire cable, to each end of which an incline car is attached. The track is double and as one car goes up the other comes down. In the cars foot passengers and all kinds of cargoes, including big auto trucks loaded with coal, brick or sand, are quickly moved up or down from one level to the other. Where not too steep for building the entire south hillside is built, houses, stores, and occasionally large buildings and churches. Some of the streets are paved all the way up, and at least one electric car line curves its way up to the top. Along each side of the streets are plank or cement stair ways extending all the way up, which must give the natives good healthy exercise in climbing. On one of my health rambles, I climbed one of these long flights of cement stairs, and counted the steps, just 215 of them.

Along the river there are six fine substantial bridges, all built high above the water so as not to interfere with the navigation of the river craft, and cutting out all street railroad crossings in this section of the city. Along the river on the north side for at least two miles are the railroad yards and machine shops, and great steel manufacturing plants, while all the country for miles around is studded thick with human habitations, amongst which are many churches, school buildings, public halls and business blocks. Almost every alley is turned into a street and many of the lots have two fronts, one on the street, and one on the river.

One of my most interesting health and pleasure walks is to cross over on the 22d Street bridge, or Fifth Avenue and follow up the street to the east a mile or so to Pittsburgh's fifty million beauty spot, which includes Schenley Park, a million dollar athletic field, a million dollar Soldiers Memorial Hall, Syria Temple, Massena Temple and many others. The six million dollar Carnegie institute, the Carnegie Tech school buildings, and many other fine buildings.

Andrew Carnegie was the patron saint of Pittsburgh. He made all his money there, and he distributed his wealth with a lavish hand. The institute is a wonderful building, about 300 feet long by 400 feet wide, and it contains many departments, and among them is a wonderful interesting museum. The wild animal exhibit is very wonderful. I can only mention one exhibit, that of a large glass case containing two monster mounted rhinoceroses. A card on the case said that the larger one was shot by Teddy Roosevelt and the other by Henry C. Frick in their noted wild animal hunt in Africa, a few years ago.

Another of my favorite walks is to cross the same and go west or down town for about 30 blocks or about a mile and a half, where most of the great business blocks are located, past the great William Penn Hotel, which has on the 17th floor a large dancing floor and banquet hall. Close by is a 24 story business block and all around are great sky scraper buildings. At the Point a few rods from either river, stands the old Block House, and close by, inclosed by a high fence is the sight of Old Fort Pitt, for the possession of which much precious blood was shed during the French and Indian wars which preceded our Revolutionary war by many years. Only seven miles up the Monongahela river is the historic field known as Braddock's Field where in 1755 the victor of Washington, ignoring the advice of Braddock, marched the army of 1,200 French and Indian soldiers and 150 Indians like sheep to the slaughter, and the 900 French and Indians, hidden in the surrounding forest, did their job up in a thorough and workmanlike manner according to Indian warfare. Three years later in 1758, Gen. Forbes was sent to capture Fort Pitt with an army of 7,000 men. Maj. Grant was sent ahead with an advance guard of 850 men, and when within less than a mile of the fort, like Braddock, he was ambushed by the French and Indians and he and half of his men killed and scalped and the balance put to flight.

When Gen. Forbes arrived soon after, the French blew up the fort, burned the buildings and retreated. The Allegheny County court house standing on Grant's Hill and Grant street has a bronze tablet commemorating the event which says that on Sept. 12th, 1758, Major Grant was defeated on this hill by a force of French and Indians.

The following extracts from a letter written by my niece, Mrs. Fanny Burbank Gile, living at Glendale, Calif., under date of Nov. 1st, will be of interest to some of your West Fryburg and Jackson readers: "Well, we are grandpa and grandmother, now. Beatrice has a nice baby boy, born the 22nd of October. She and her husband are here with us now, but expect they will go to a home of their own soon. Baby weighed 8 lbs. His name is Lyle Clark son Bechtold. His Grandpa Gile thinks he is pretty fine, so does Mabel. Wish mother could have lived to see her great grandson. She looked forward to it until she got so sick. Beatrice looks fine and it is a fine looking child, and good all the time. Mabel is working daytimes, now, and looks lots better. Ellsworth works most of the time, gets $7 to $8 a day, and boards at home. There is lots of building going on here and in Los Angeles."

Under the date of Oct. 12th Mrs. C. H. Swan of Happy Camp, Calif., writes in part as follows: "Charlie is still living after fifteen months, and may live much longer, although the cancer is spreading and is now in his eye, making him almost sightless. He suffers constantly, but bears his suffering with great fortitude, making no complaint. He sits up an hour every afternoon which rests him a little. A friend is staying with us at present until Rupert, who is forty miles from Happy Camp working in a copper mine now being prospected by a company, comes home, which will be about two weeks. I find it impossible to get help to stay. A girl will not stay, too lonesome. If I could get a middle aged woman, in need of a home, and would accept small wages she would be a blessing to me. I need some one to rely upon, who will be here all the time. As it is I can't even get any one to do the washing. Do all my own work and care for Charlie, which I am truly thankful for that God gives me strength to do my duty to my suffering husband. We have had a hot dry summer, creeks and river lower than they have been for years, but rain began on the night of Sept. 21, and it has rained all most continuously since. 'Tis trying to clear up today, the air is colder and Slaty Point Butte is capped with snow, first of the season. Begins to look like winter, which I dread, as I am not a lover of cold weather, but prefer summer and sunshine."

The obituary notice of the death of Mrs. David Hill at West Fryburg, published in the Advertiser a few weeks ago, brought vividly to my mind the pleasant visit that I had with her and David Hill at their old family mansion on my last visit to Maine five years ago. They were a grand old couple, and both have since departed to that better land where partings will be no more.

Mrs. Hill's first husband was my first cousin, and on one of my visits to her home my attention was called to a fine group of white pine trees growing a few rods back of the house, and she told me with evident pride how she and Albert had dug with their own hands the little pine trees that year in the nearby woods and transplanted them to that vacant hillside pasture. I have more than a passing interest in the old Colby home-stead, where 3 generations of the Colby family lived and died. My mother, Abigail Colby, was born there in 1803. My grandfather and grandmother Colby, (Robert Colby and Mary Kelley Colby) died when I was quite young, but I well remember both of them. My father, Abraham Andrews, 2d, died before I was quite five-years old and while living at Swan's Falls. My mother, sister and myself continued to live there for nearly two years before moving to Lovell. During that time Grandfather and Grandmother Colby paid us a visit which lasted several weeks.

I remember two incidents that happened during their visit as well as though it were but yesterday. Mother went away on a visit of several days and Grandmother was installed as housekeeper, and one day she made a nice pudding with real raisins in it, and that to my mind was the best pudding I ever ate.

Grandpa Colby must have been a tobacco chewer, for one day he sent by his

OUR CHRISTMAS CAMPAIGN HAS STARTED

And every indication points to a tremendous holiday buying this year, and we think it will be very unwise to procrastinate and let your Christmas shopping be concentrated in the two or three days just preceding this festive occasion. Notes From Joseph Andrews near neighbor, Sam Swan, to town for a plug of tobacco, and the next morning I was sent to bring it home. I put the plug in my little jacket pocket, took it home and delivered it. Investigating my pocket further I found a leaf of the tobacco that had become lodged in my pocket, and proceeded to chew and swallow it. It was before breakfast, but my usually sharp appetite was gone and I wanted no breakfast. Mother handed me out a nice slice of buttered toast and I spewed. I was put to bed a sick boy, and that was my first and last chew of the filthy weed.

My mother had four sisters and two brothers, Mary, Ann, Betsey, Hannah, and John and James, all born at the old Colby home, which remains today almost exactly as when I first remember it about 70 years ago. Mary married John Heath and lived at Green Hill, N. H. Hannah married James Kelley and lived on Fag End street, Conway, N. H. Betsey married John McMullen and lived at Fryeburg village, Ann married David Sawyer. John died before my time. He moved away, married and left one girl, Ruth. I think, who visited her kin folks in Fryeburg when I was quite young.

Uncle Jim Colby married Mary Sterling and lived on the home place and cared for his father and mother, and inherited the old Homestead. He had three sons and two daughters: Richard, who lived on a farm in West Fryeburg; Albert, who was a book agent and publisher in Boston and Portland, and became owner of his father's farm; and John who was a wealthy furniture dealer in Chicago. Ann Colby married Isaac Andrews of Chatham, N. H. She had four children: John Andrews, an honored citizen of East Conway, N. H.; Fred, now living at Smithland, Iowa; Albert, now living at Exira, Iowa, and Mary, who married a Mr. Brooks and lived near Boston, where she died a few years ago. Lucius married Jewett Haley and lived first at Stow, but later moved to West Fryeburg where he owned one of the finest intervals farms in that town. They had two children: Etta Haley Osgood, a talented lady now living at Swatmore, Pa., and Paris Haley, who owns a fine home in Seattle, Wash. During the last ten years that I lived in Lovell my sister and I made frequent visits to Fryeburg, and it kept us busy making the rounds. For within three miles of Uncle Jim's house lived three families of our kindred. One uncle, three aunts, one half brother, two half sisters and five first cousins, and nine of the families were of the Colby kin.

Under date of Nov. 19th, my banker at Hurley, S. D., writes me in regard to the crop and financial situation there: "The farmers here all report a good corn crop, but it seems inevitable that the farmers will get it in the neck, this year. The cost of production of this year's crops has been extremely high, and the present slump in farm products certainly makes things look discouraging for the farmer. The elevators here were paying 36 cents for oats and 56 cents for corn yesterday. The farmers are all predicting 40c corn before very long. It looks like corn ought to be some higher next summer, but some higher next summer, and farmers are getting little encouragement to hold their corn over. Money matters here are very tight, and it is just about impossible to borrow money at all. We have tried for several months to get money to finance our customers to buy feeders, but have met with little success. It seems that this situation prevails all over the country. The farmers, who have rented farms for cash for this coming year, are talking seriously of throwing them up. The farmers are paying from 7c to 10c a bushel for husking corn. All summer they hired help."

While nearly everything the farmers have to sell has dropped to pre-war prices, most that they have to buy fails to toboggan down. With turkeys around 70 cents a pound, none but the millionaire could afford a turkey for his Thanksgiving dinner. Here in Pittsburgh potatoes are 40 cents a peck, milk 17c a quart, Olive oil about $6 a gallon, extracted bees honey 4c a pound, soda crackers 37c to 50c a pound, bread 15c for a 24 oz. loaf, seedless raisins 35c a pound, etc.

I continue to take my daily walks of from one to four miles around the city streets and so far have escaped being run down by the many speeding autos and street cars. The papers report over 60 deaths from auto accidents in the city in the last six months, and over 50 homicides within the same time, and almost every day there is one or more holdups reported in the city papers.

Later on, after I am better acquainted with the lay of Pittsburgh and have visited Braddock's Field, the Allegheny river and the north side of the city, I may write another sketch of this truly wonderful city, one of the greatest manufacturing cities of the country.

OXFORD

Given Surprise

Irene Perkins was given a surprise party on her birthday, Tuesday evening, Dec. 7. The guests present comprised the eighteen members of the Sophomore class in O. H. S., of which she is a member. She was presented with a fountain pen, stationery and numerous other gifts. Refreshments were served and games enjoyed until a late hour.

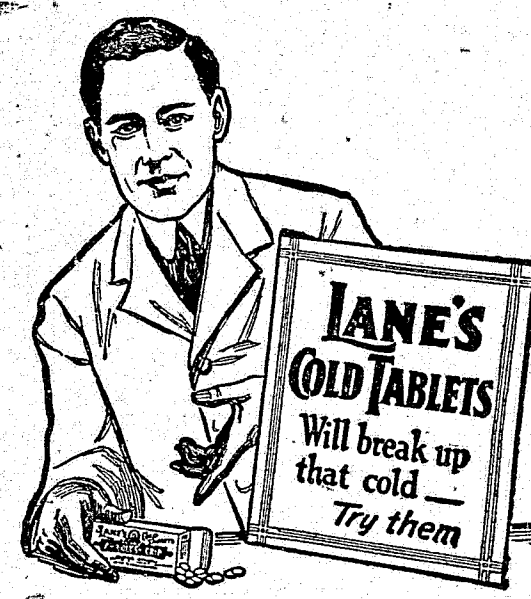

Harry Ballard has rented the bakery and will open a barber shop and conduct a billiard table.

Principal E. C. Megquier has moved his family here for the winter. The home will occupy Mrs. Georgia Cash's house on Republican Avenue. Mrs. Cash is in Florida for the winter.

There are four classes of postoffices. The first class is an office with gross receipts of $40,000 or more. The second class is an office with gross receipts of $8,000 or more. The third class is one with gross receipts of $1,900 or more. The postmasters of these offices are appointed by the President. The appointment must be confirmed by the Senate to become operative. Any postoffice with gross receipts of less than $1,900 is a fourth class office. The postmaster is appointed by the fourth assistant postmaster general.

Anyone holding a 1920 War Savings Certificate and desiring to fill it out must purchase all their stamps before Jan. 1, 1921, as on that date the new yearly series starts. If anyone has a partly filled certificate card, and wishes to fill it completely in order to obtain a U. S. Treasury Savings Certificate, he should bear this fact in mind, War Savings Stamps this month are selling for $4.50, and an investment in them in December, if they are kept until maturity, means a yield of about 4 1/4 per cent.

YOUR RHEUMATISM

Remove Its Cause by Purifying Your Blood.

One of the most important duties of your system is to burn up certain substances no longer of use in your body. One is uric acid, now generally held to be the cause of rheumatism. It inflames the joints, stiffens the muscles, causes pains, aches, and lameness.

The system is helped to dispose of this troublesome substance, and rheumatism is permanently relieved, by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the one true blood purifier. It is aided in many cases by Hood's Pills, which in small doses are a gentle laxative, in larger doses an active cathartic. A grand treatment, economical and effective.

NORWAY AND VICINITYOne Reason for Abandoned Farms

The lure of the city, a distaste for laborious work or attractive wages in factories are not the only reasons for giving up rural life and leaving the homestead to lapse into decay and weeds.

A statement in the Maine Health News Bulletin for December offers food for reflection, and can be fully appreciated by parents who have reared a family far from the physician or druggist. In summer the matter of securing medical aid is but a question of minutes. When the country roads are piled high with snow an emergency call usually means hours of suspense while waiting for the overworked physician.

We quote from the bulletin numerous statistics prepared by Dr. L. D. Bristol, chairman of the Health Directorate of Maine.

"Three hundred questionnaires have been sent out, through the State Chamber of Commerce, to granges in the state, asking information as to the adequacy of medical attendance in rural communities. So far, 67 replies have been received and the answers to the questions reveal a situation far more serious and startling than was anticipated.

"Out of 67 communities, but 18 have resident doctors, and two other communities report their doctors too old for efficient service.

"A total of 47 communities are without medical aid, and 8 rural centers have no nurse available for emergency or even ordinary practice.

"Even in centers where a doctor is available in a measure, the service is inadequate because of the distances which separate the physician and his patients. In sixteen communities the doctor lives from one to four miles away; in 22 communities, he lives from five to eight; while in nine communities, he is from nine to twelve miles away.

"In response to the questionnaire, 29 communities among the number which have already reported, put in an urgent plea for a resident physician to attend to their needs."

Body to Arrive From France

Edward Anderson of Solon street has received a telegram that his son's body, Elmer D. Anderson, who died in France, would arrive in New York City about Dec. 18. Arrangements for the funeral will be made after the arrival of the body. The funeral will be held at Westbrook, Mr. Anderson's former home. He went into the service from Oxford on the American Legion Post there, bears his name.

Epworth League

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church held its monthly meeting and social at the New Community Hall, Dec. 8.

Pres.—Dr. A. Leon Siskenga.
1st Vice Pres.—Grace Harwood.
2d Vice Pres.—Mrs. Gertrude Allen.
3d Vice Pres.—Mrs. Arthur Morgan.

Prof. G. A. Yeaton returned from Orono the first of the week. He drove to his home in Augusta on his way down to leave his car for the winter.

A. L. Noyes went to West Paris Saturday where he has opened a cobbler's shop. His family remain here this winter to await the result of this new venture before moving there.

Alfred J. Dyer, who has been advertising for information concerning his valuable foxhound "Gipp" learned recently that the animal was found dead in the "Thousand Acre Lot" in Sodom. The dog was shot by some person unknown to Mr. Dyer. It is not only a question of money to the owner, but his children feel the loss keenly as the dog was their constant companion and playmate.

There on the new bus either way has been reduced to flat ten-cent rate, or a ten ride ticket can be purchased for a dollar if that way is the most convenient.

Joseph Therrier has returned from a four weeks' visit at his home in Kennebunk. He also visited his son at Hallowsell and his daughter at Rochester, N. H.

L. M. Longley & Son have installed a steam heating plant for Mrs. Lucelia Merriam, the work being completed this week.

Paul Locke of Portland, formerly of Norway, was in town visiting his son and other relatives the first of the week. Station Agent Ruel has returned from St. Hyacinthe, Que., with his family, and they are settled in the bungalow of Tucker street bought of the Norway Home Building Association.

Ward 3 fishermen caught a good string of pickerel at Moose pond early this week. They found ice about five inches thick and the fish not overgrown.

George H. Bennett has been stripping samples at the Mason Manufacturing Co. to get along a rush order for the firm.

The W. C. T. U. held their December meeting Wednesday, Dec. 8, at the home of Mrs. Annie Sanborn on lower Main street. This was the Christmas program. Mrs. F. A. Sullivan had charge of the opening exercises. Christmas stories were told by several of the members.

An interesting history was also given on the "Pioneers of the W. C. T. U. Work" including Frances Willard, Neel Dow, Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens and Anna Gordon. There was a good attendance and the meeting was very interesting.

Mrs. L. J. Gurney, after spending the summer and fall with relatives in town, has gone to her home in Gorham.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pitts of Harrison is spending the week with her aunt, Lizzie L. Foss.

Sport Guide Goes to the City

Sidney W. Bennett, guide, trapper and hunter of the Magalloway called recently on his way to Lowell, Mass. Sid has been busy all summer and for some weeks past been at the hatchery and has gathered a good many hundred thousand trout spawn.

He tells of many big fish he has handled and says he has got his legal allotment of deer. There were not so many of them killed in that section this year as last.

The hunters were more numerous. There were sixty "shackers" at one time up river besides those in the sporting camps. It was hardly safe to stick your hand out of camp, bullets were flying so fast in the height of the hunting season.

Mr. Bennett is to work for the Saco & Lowell Machine Co., on Dutton street, Lowell, this winter. This is his fourth or fifth winter there. He says he likes to be out of the wood some of the time.

His brother, Ernest, is working in the woods this winter and earning big pay. His mother, Mrs. Sarah S. Bennett, is one of our correspondents and will keep Sid posted on the Up River news this winter.

Horse Knew Where to Go

John Grover recently lost his horse while in the village. He left it unhitched in the street while shopping and when he returned the horse was gone. John scurried round inquiring of everybody he met if they had seen a horse without a driver leaving town. "He must have gone home," he said. Word finally got to Mr. Grover that his horse had gone into the old Elm House stable, now used as a garage.

M. L. Kimball: "There isn't as much business for lawyers as there used to be. It is because people don't law against each other like they used to; and because the workmen's compensation law has reduced the number of damage suits."

Moving Building Wrecked Phone and Light Service

Frank J. Witham furnished more excitement for the townspeople in two days than has been given in the last month.

He started on the road with the "Kilgore house" from Norway Lake, Sunday morning, about 9 o'clock. Eight pairs of horses teamed by Eugene Millett, Ed. Rich, Guy Buck, Harold Bailey, Herbert Rich and Ed. Carver, were hitched to the runners under the building and the distance to Hurd's blacksmith shop easily negotiated before noon. Things went fairly well after dinner until the outfit made the turn from Main to Whitman street when telephone and light wires were encountered with a general snarl. They made little progress during the afternoon, as both the Maine Telephone Co. and Oxford Electric Co. linemen were forced to cut and untangle wires before a passage could be made.

The avalanche started, Monday morning down Pearl and Beal streets, leaving in its wake disconnected wires at about every house, and broken shade trees at one place on Beal street. The trolley wire was cut on Paris street with considerable time being spent raising the telephone cable, which is the trunk line, before the building could be hauled away from the Paris-street traffic onto Green street. The remaining distance to a lot adjoining the Will Cole stand was made without difficulty. The house will be transformed into a cozy tenement.

"Turn backward, turn backward, O, Tim, in thy flight; make me a child again just for tonight," finds its answer in Norway's stores this rejuvenating Christmas period. It is refreshing to be among the grown up boys and girls—and to be one of them, yourself. Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR THE FORD COUPE

The Ford Coupe is surely the Salesman's car. Thousands of them are bought every year by firms employing traveling salesmen. Many firms buy fifty or one hundred at a time, because they know, from experience, that the Ford Coupe increases the efficiency of the salesmen at a minimum of expense.

Contractors, builders, collectors, solicitors, physicians all find the Ford Coupe the most convenient as well as the most economical among motor cars. Lowest in purchase price, lowest in operating costs, and backed by the Ford Service organization—coupled with the durability of the car itself—these furnish the reasons for the Ford popularity.

SUMMER ROADSIDE NOTES AND HAPPENINGS

I indulged in writing some, last summer, but failed to get it printed. There was such a demand for space to beat the high cost of living I was crowded out.
Here is some of the left over stuff:

George Corliss' cows get drunk from green apples that drop from the branches of our trees. At least he says so and feels much grieved over it. The trees were such near the dividing wall many years ago and the branches extend over so the apples drop into the pasture and is now causing trouble. He seems to forget there are many scrub apple trees loaded with apples in his pasture and blames our trees for the drunkenness of his cows since the Volstead Act.

In a well kept cemetery, or more accurately speaking, churchyard, in Hebron, N. H., is this epitaph:

MORRIS SON OF
ENOS AND LUCY HERRIN
DIED
DEC. 21, 1816. AGED 6 YEARS
Beneath the scourge of the whip he lies,
Freed from all earthly cruelties,
His soul is gone, we know not where,
To follow him let us prepare.
The story is that the boy while at school played in the mud and snow contrary to the orders of the teacher and was flogged for his disobedience both by the teacher and his parents. The boy took cold and died, hence "the scourge of the whip" directly applied and was chiselled on the tombstone.

Here is another:

REUBEN ROBERT
Who died in the 50th year of his age,
May 6, 1810
His death was much lamented as a member of civil society and as a pillar of the Church of Christ in Hebron (N. H.)
Undoubtedly there are more graves in the yard than there are inhabitants in the town. Yes, double the number, as the population in 1910 was only 213, and it's been growing less, the past ten years. The yard is well kept. Three sides are enclosed by a nicely trimmed cedar hedge, grass carefully mowed and fence in shape.

In this little village at the head of Newfound Lake is a public square, with fountain of ever running water, an academy building, church, parsonage, vestry, and a nice and well arranged Grange Hall as in the State. There is a store and post office and several comfortable houses. It speaks of an enterprising and thrifty generation that passed never to return.

In a country store at Burnham Junction, Me., is a 9x14 inch printed sign bearing this inscription:
"If you spit on the floor at home, spit on the floor here,
We want you to feel at home."

Laconia, "the City on the Lake," has increased 714 in population in the last ten years. The first citizens are now howling over the inaccuracy of the census enumerators and are talking of a recount. The total population is only 10,897 and the knowing boomers said it should be from 12 to 14 thousand.

The Tom Hill "Welcome to Our City" sign has fallen by the roadside, and is not quite so gorgeous as in years past.

Plymouth, N. H., is noted for two things, both in the line of air jammies.
Daniel Webster made his first plea and won his first case in its Court House in 1805, and as did Senator Henry W.
Blair, sixty years later.

Fryeburg, Me., is on the map because Daniel Webster taught school there and worked in the register of deeds office nights and mornings.

Ben Young rings the church bell no more. He went up on the price of his services from 10 to 20 cents a week and got dismissed. He is however allowed to attend church, but not to pass around the contribution box as in the past.

Ephraim Severson, 13 years old, is working for Warren Kimball and is violating a statute law which prohibits child labor. I'm told no person under 16 can legally work for wages or hire in this State. There is a penalty attached, but no one as yet has made trouble in this particular instance. Ephraim is really needed by Mr. Kimball and the wages he gets helps support a family of 14 children.

It is a funny law that prohibits children from working when the family needs the work of the children to keep the wolf of hunger away, yet what I state is a fact.

Ephraim is a likely boy; he can milk, saw wood and has care for the barn while Mr. Kimball has been confined to the house with sickness for three weeks, and I saw him pay him some money the other day and that violates the laws.

This law is foolish as well as ridiculous, and I hope I'm misinformed regarding it.

Did you ever see iron pounded by a hammer until it becomes red-hot? This I saw at the blacksmith's shop, the other morning. The bar of steel or iron was a quarter inch square and was beaten to white heat in less than a minute.

Personal:—I have sent a postal card to Herman Horne of Norway saying:
"Music and poetry is like wine and should be indulged in sparingly, if at all." I feel like cautioning him.

"Ordination Rock" on Bunker Hill in Tamworth, N. H., is a landmark made so by the monument erected by the grandson of the early pastor. The following is learned from the inscription:

Rev. Samuel Hidden was born in Rowley, Mass., Feb. 22, 1760, and served four enlistments in the Revolutionary war, (1777-1781). He graduated at Dartmouth College in 1791 and settled in Tamworth, N. H., being ordained on "Ordination Rock" next to the church, Sept. 20, 1792, and he was its pastor until he died, Feb. 13, 1837, making about 46 years.

A grandson in 1862 put up a marble monument on the rock with appropriate inscriptions. The church has been moved into Tamworth village, but the graveyard remains on the opposite side of the road from the rock.

I seldom pass it without going up the stone steps and reading the inscription.
This I did, last summer, and learned that the town of Tamworth in 1860 had a population of 1717. It now numbers about 900.

When Brother Hidden was ordained in 1792, there were 40 families. The first settler came here in 1771. Chas. P. Cook erected a nice public library in the village in 1895 and gave it to the town.

The summer home of the late Grover Cleveland is in this town. It is now called the Preston Place as his widow married,

This Burden Again?

A campaign of propaganda is being waged to restore the traffic in liquor. Pressure toward that end is certain to be exerted on Congress. Will we again shoulder alcohol's old grievous load of taxation, affliction and crime?

We will not! says the National Grange. Throughout its long and noteworthy career it has fought on the side of temperance, combating the evil and waste wrought by liquor. It has stood consistently for clean manhood and womanhood, for high ideals and for strict observance of the law.

The Grange is still aligned just as firmly as ever on the side of right. It believes that the riddance of liquor helped greatly to sustain this country in the difficult period of after-war adjustment. Congress must know that the farmers oppose the restoration of liquor.

You who believe in a clean America can help insure it in no better way than by joining the Grange. It is a mighty power for progress; as such it merits your support.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, the great national weekly of profitable farming, also stands unswervingly for a clean and orderly national life. It seeks not only to inform, but to inspire through its news of farm success. You will find in its 52 big weekly issues many helpful articles and much wholesome entertainment—all for $1.00. We urge the double advantage of being a member of the Grange and a reader of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

The Rumford paper has two market ads of exactly the same size. One gives prices and the other does not. The one with prices is read and commented on and the other says they have a large supply of meats and vegetables and invite you to call. Which is the best ad? Which will draw trade? Here are some of the prices: Florida Oranges 44 cents per dozen; lemons, 23 cents per dozen; pork roast 23 cents per pound; shoulder 23 cents; chuck roast 22 to 28 cents per pound. We do not know which firm gets the most business, but the ad that gives prices makes an impression on the reader. There is no doubt about it.

Augusta Woman Says Her Strength Is Greater Than In Years and She Is Hungry All the Time

"Since taking Tanlac I am hungry all the time, and my son teases me by saying he can't keep enough in the house to eat," said Mrs. Sarah E. Paige, 23 Elm St., Augusta, Me.

Mrs. Paige is nearing her three score and ten, and had been in poor health for a long time, some years ago having suffered a nervous breakdown. Continuing her statement she said:

"I've had trouble with my stomach a long time, suffering greatly from gas, which caused me to fear I had heart trouble. I even had my heart examined to see if that was what caused me to get so dizzy lots of times, and was told all my troubles came from my stomach."

"I suffered dreadfully with my back right over my kidneys. I had such a bitter taste in my mouth mornings I frequently could not eat breakfast and grew weaker all the time. After suffering all day I would lie awake into the night tossing and turning till I became exhausted before getting to sleep. Finally I got so ill I could not even do my housework, all the time suffering agonies."

"My son bought Tanlac for me and right from the start I commenced getting better. The pains and gas left my stomach and my back ceased to hurt me. I am not nervous any more and my greatest trouble now is satisfying my appetite. My strength is greater than it has been in many years and I do my housework with ease."

Tanlac is sold in Norway by A. L. Clark Drug Co.; in West Paris by S. T. White; O. H. Haskell, Sweden, R. F. D. Harrison; Messrs. Hutchins & Webb, N. Fryeburg; Kidder Bros., Peru, and Mrs. Edith Hunt, Denmark.

WELCHVILLE
Pauline Jordan Commended for Heroism
Pauline Jordan of Welchville saw through four years of war work in France and is still seeking to be in the Caucasus, serving in the Near East Relief uniform. The menace of a victorious Turkish army has not found any quitting blood in this American girl, and she showed great heroism in refusing to abandon her work in the face of the advancing Turkish Nationalist forces.

Though the Armenian government collapsed before the continued advance of Mustafa Kemal's forces in the Caucasus, Miss Jordan, together with the rest of the two score Relief workers in that area, remained at work. Capt. Ernest A. Yarrov, relief director for the Caucasus, had previously given the force an opportunity to resign because of the threatening military situation. With thousands of unfed, shoeless, half-naked refugees in need of food, medicine and clothing, these workers could not leave their charges, but cabled urgent appeals for an immediate increase in the relief budget and cash shipments of supplies.

Miss Jordan, who is a graduate of Haverhill High School, Haverhill, Mass., and of Teacher's College, Columbia University, trained for the nursing profession at New York Hospital, and at the Institute of Radium, Paris. Before the World War she had travelled extensively in Europe and had seen the outbreak of hostilities and immediately offered her services. The following letter expresses the appreciation of the heroism exhibited by Miss Jordan:

"In behalf of the executive committee of Near East Relief, and of the American people whose representatives you are in the work of relief, I want to express our profound admiration and appreciation of the heroism that you have shown in remaining at your posts during the recent crisis in the Caucasus."

"We are not ungrateful of the fact that many of you have remained at your posts of duty long beyond the period called for in your contract. We also know that some have urgent calls in America, and that there was every justification for your leaving your posts and returning home. That you did not avail yourselves of your rights in this matter and that the approach of danger only made you the more determined in the performance of your mission of mercy is a high tribute to your unselfish devotion to duty and to the ideals of American altruism."

"We have no medals or orders of merit to bestow, nor do you ask for any such material recognition of your services. We do, however, want you to know that the American public is not unmindful of the service which you are rendering and that both in the hearts of the American public and especially in the lives of the people whom you are saving for future usefulness and leadership, there is a record of your service more honorable than could be engraved on any medal."

GOD'S CHRISTMAS TREES

Beautiful woods of fir and pine, And silver snow and gold and stars, And diamond crowns sparkling fair, And silence—silence everywhere. Beautiful, beautiful woods are ye, Each pine, each fir a Christmas tree, Wonderful Woods when sunsets glow— Only God's hand could make these so! —Hortense Gardner Gregg Gates.

EAST SUMMER

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bonney have returned from Kennebunk.
Mrs. Frank Chadbourne and little daughter, Alma of Canton, spent the week-end with her parents H. W. Bonney and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Tucker were in Turner, Sunday.
The officers of the Sunday school were elected, last Sunday, and it looks well for the rising generation, that the officers were all filled by young people, with the exception of the Supt. of the Grade Roll, Mrs. Berkeley being elected to that office.

Thursday evening, the citizens gave Rev. Mr. Berkeley and wife a pound party at the vestry, the whole affair being a complete surprise to the recipients. The people responded heartily to the call, and brought many generous gifts, as tokens of their appreciation of the pastor's labors in the community. The evening was very pleasantly spent in sociability, songs and games. Refreshments of cake, coffee and cocoa, were served.

From now until Christmas will be a busy time for everyone especially merchants, mail carriers and postmasters.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. E. J. OHENNEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

Skating Rink at Paris High School
If the plans formulated by Principal O. C. Turner and supported by the Assistant Principal, C. P. Wood and the student body, work out successfully, the high school will possess an ice rink within a short time. The Community Club and citizens are interested in the experiment and will assist with the finances.

A beginning was made, this week, when lumber was delivered for the wall which will enclose the athletic field on the high school premises. Snow will be removed from the surface and water from a near by hydrant will flood the oval basin measuring approximately 300x75 ft. Just enough water will be used to give a smooth surface. As the deepest part will not exceed 12 inches, the spot should prove a safe place for even the youngest skater.

The rink will be open to the public and is not a strictly school proposition. Crowded conditions may cause the promoters to arrange a schedule of hours. Probably the children would be given the preference of certain periods each afternoon, while the older students and townspeople might utilize the evenings. A toboggan and ski slide under consideration, might be a drawing card to meet the question of congestion on the rink, thus doing away with time rules.

It is believed snow storms will not greatly hinder the sport, as volunteer help with shovels and brooms could easily chase away the drifts.

Pythian Celebrates Anniversary
Some thirty members of Hamlin Lodge K. of P. were given a happy surprise Friday evening when Byron Tuttle invited those assembled at the regular meeting to Hotel Andrews for a banquet.

This social gathering was arranged to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of Mr. Tuttle receiving the rank of Knight in Hamlin Lodge.

The invitation was sprung near the close of the meeting when the host suggested the boys adjourn to his home in Hotel Andrews where, as he said, "Guess my wife had fixed up a little home brew for them." Delicious "brew" it was, for the dining room tables were loaded with cream potato, cold ham, pickles, hot rolls, fruit salad, raspberry preserves, and cake. Coffee, ice cream and cigars completed this bountiful spread.

As the Knights have won their spurs gaining the Pythian heights, they certainly deserve another set for the mastery way they showed their appreciation of Mrs. Tuttle's handiwork. It was a feast long to be remembered.

John Everett acted as toastmaster and presided over a gathering where oratorical efforts received warm applause. The boys did as good work in this department as during the table clearing ordeal. After all had "orated" a rising vote of thanks was given Brother Tuttle for the good time and splendid banquet.

Committees Chosen
The Community Club has the following committees chosen for the ensuing year: Education—Jula Morton, Mrs. Flora Haskell, Mrs. Lucia Morton, Mrs. Alta Wise, Mrs. Helen Gargelon, Mrs. Eva Tins.

Mrs. D. D. Peverley of Bryant's Pond has been the recent guest of her son, Edward D. Peverley and wife.

Mrs. Harold Fletcher has been at Livermore several days, being called there on account of the illness of her mother.

The new metal ventilator has been placed in position on a gable at the high school building and is giving satisfaction. The real test will come when low temperature arrives. It is expected the room can now be easily heated to an even temperature under all conditions.

The small shop on Gothic street used the past twenty-five or more years for various purposes, has been moved from Maurice L. Noyes premises and attached to the rear of Percy P. Allen's store, facing Western Avenue.

Scholars in the Brick school have worked very hard and sold many stamps for the Tuberculosis fund. A five dollar bond was purchased by the VIII grade, the second purchased in town. Grade VI sold stamps to the value of $5; Grade VI sold $2 worth and Grade V disposed of $3 worth.

Eva Andrews was given a shower by the G. O. P. club at the home of Lulu Billings, Thursday evening, in honor of her approaching marriage to Raymond B. Andrews. The house decorations were pink and white. Gifts were presented in a decorated box hauled by Master Cecil Stevens with Theresa Swain on the seat impersonating Cupid. Refreshments were served. The guests were: Helene Pitts, Ida Stiles, Beryl Gilver, Nora Dunham, Elizabeth Muzzy, Doris Kerr, Florence Eastman, Evelyn Wright, Lela Billings and Eva Andrews.

EFFICIENT USE OF HEATER

Too much coal is burned by the average household in heating his house, say engineers in the Division of Rural Engineering, Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, who have recently completed a study of how to heat the farmhouse efficiently. That too much coal is burned is due primarily, studies show, to lack of knowledge of how to regulate the heater.

It is not enough to install a heater, fill the bins with coal, and then expect it to heat the house properly. The first season after installing a heater should be devoted to a study of fuels and their burning in the particular heater.

Some of the things in general which the engineers who have been in charge of this work advise the furnace operator to look after if he wishes to heat his home comfortably with a minimum amount of coal are:

Be sure the chimney is large enough for the size of the house and, if possible, have it straight, and down with a lined round flue. Study the dampers and use them intelligently in regulating the fire. Experiment with different kinds of coal until the best kind or the best mixture for your special heater is found. Do not use the poker too often unless the coal is of the kind that fuses, forms a crust, and interferes with the draft. Do not leave ashes in the ash pit; clean them out each time after shaking. Insulate pipes and warm air ducts; it saves heat. Maintain, if possible, a humidity between 40 and 50 per cent; moist air heats more quickly and is much more healthful.

Yes, we do job printing. We like to do it. We have plenty of help and plenty of machinery, but at this time only a small amount of work to do. Send in your orders. We want to keep the crew busy.

WHAT AN ENGLISH MOTOR EXPERT THINKS OF AN AMERICAN CAR

It is a rare thing when an English motor journal devotes any space to praising the merits of an American built car, but in a recent issue of the British Motor Journal Autocar we find an interesting opinion by S. F. Edge. Mr. Edge is a recognized authority. Few men outside of America have attained such an international reputation in the motor car industry. Commenting on one American car he says:

"Another of the five cars I used during the last few weeks was one I cannot help mentioning, the four-cylindered Essex, with an R. A. C. rating of 18.4 h. p. It is an American production, with absolutely the brightest, liveliest little engine I have even found in an American car; in fact, this motor might really have had a Coatalen or a Pomeroy as its sponsor. Quite outside the engine's merits, however, the whole car is good, pleasant to use, and striking. The steering is light and easy; the springing is good; the brakes are good; in fact, everything to do with its driving is most satisfactory. The price charged too, is very reasonable for what is given, by comparison with the prices of other cars.

"The ability of the Essex to climb hills on top-speed, and yet give one a comfortable 45 miles per hour with four people up, is unequalled in my experience of four-cylindered cars of same engine-dimensions. It is really surprising that one can still fall across such good cars, quite unexpectedly. I heard of the Essex through a friend who often tells me of swans which turn out to be geese; but I ignore his exaggerations, because there is generally at least one swan-like attribute about anything he commends, and I like enthusiasm, even when it is not altogether disinterested. But in this case my friend had certainly not overstated the facts, and I was most intrigued to find an American "four" of such flexibility, liveliness and substance, notwithstanding its quite moderate all-on weight.

"The next day I had a good long trip on a British-built car of about the same seating capacity, but with a slightly larger engine. Although in some matters the British car's design was the better (or perhaps I can more justly say the better in my eyes), its road performance was not to be compared. In hill-climbing, for instance, the home-built car was always a speed (or gear combination) inferior to the Essex. To pick-up after slackening of speed one simply had to change down, whereas the Essex was still quite happy on its top-speed."
